FROM: William Flynn, Acting Assistant Secretary for Infrastructure Protection
SUBJECT: Presidential Proclamation for 2009 Critical Infrastructure Protection Month
DATE: Thursday, December 03, 2009 7:55 PM
TO: State, Local, Tribal and Territorial Government Coordinating Council Members

President Barack Obama issued a proclamation, Wednesday, declaring December, 2009 to be “critical infrastructure protection month.” The Presidential proclamation underscores the vital importance of the ongoing work and achievements of all our partners – in the private sector and in the government – in protecting and ensuring the resilience of our Nation’s critical infrastructure and key resources.

During Critical Infrastructure Protection Month, President Obama said “we rededicate ourselves to safeguarding and strengthening our Nation’s infrastructure.” He declared that “members of the public and private sectors should work with their appropriate State, regional, and local authorities to engage in critical infrastructure protection activities being coordinated across the country.”

We recognize your ongoing commitment to the critical infrastructure mission and urge you to support President Obama and Secretary Napolitano’s efforts to raise awareness of these efforts during the month of December.

Thank you for your continued support in protecting and building the resiliency of the Nation’s critical infrastructure.
